HOW TO CREATE AN ETHEREUM WALLET TO RECEIVE SUNMONEY TOKENS?

SUNMONEY

The SunMoney ICO is based on Ethereum; a blockchain technology and a cryptocurrency by the same name. So, first of all you will need to set up your Ethereum wallet. There are many tools and apps for that out there. But not all of them support new ERC-20 tokens, and you will need those. You can not use any of the wallets on exchanges like Kraken or Coinbase, you need to have your own, because token issuers can't send their custom tokens to wallets on these exchanges directly.

MyEtherWallet
Visit www.myetherwallet.com.
The first thing you see is Create New Wallet.
Come up with a strong password, fill in the form, make sure to remember it by heart, and then press ‘Create New Wallet’.

Now, save your Keystore File. Click 'Download Keystore File' and save the file somewhere on your computer or on a thumb drive for extra security. After you have saved the file (triple-check this!), go ahead and click the Continue button.

On the next screen you will see your Private Key, it's a string of symbols. Make sure you write down or print your Private Key in order to create a Paper Wallet. Remember, there's no way to remind you of your password or Private Key, the technology simply doesn't allow that! If it's lost, it's lost forever! So, please take all of the warnings you will see on those pages seriously.
Proceed to next screen.

As you can see, there are many ways of accessing your wallet, but for clarity's sake we'll stick with the Private Key option. Simply paste or type in your private key, then click 'Unlock'.

Another option is to use the keystore file you saved on your computer earlier, then enter your password and then you'll be able to click 'Unlock'.
